

Argentina

Logicalis Argentina designs, deploys and supports the IT solutions and services that help transform businesses into powerful, digitally aware organizations both regionally and around the world.

What Sets Us Apart?

Logicalis Argentina has an outstanding advisory capacity and a diverse network of world-class partners that enable it to deliver well-designed and executed technology solutions and the accompanying services that meet the varied IT needs of its regional and multi-national clients.

Logicalis Argentina can manage the entire technology lifecycle for its clients – from planning and design to implementation and integration, to support, management and operation. This broad portfolio of offerings gives Logicalis Argentina the ability to deliver powerful business solutions to its clients' most pressing business issues.

Now, more than ever, customers need an IT partner that is both flexible and agile. As enterprise organizations work to become more digitally enabled, they are undergoing a significant transformation that affects every aspect of their business, and they need a partner like Logicalis Argentina that can help them make the technological adjustments that will position them at the forefront of their markets – wherever those markets may be.

Optimal Services Program

While having different operations in many countries may qualify an organization as a “global” entity, Logicalis believes something more is needed. That’s why Logicalis Argentina participates in the Logicalis Optimal Services program, an international common services platform which offers our multi-national enterprise clients true consistency of services regardless of geography.

Optimal Services is an incredible framework that has been painstakingly designed to deliver repeatable, consistent services across all participating geographies while still giving us the ability to remain flexible and agile in meeting our customers’ unique regional needs.
