

OUR APPLICATION SERVICES CAN HELP TRANSFORM YOUR APPLICATIONS INTO SERVICES THAT LINK ALL THE RIGHT PEOPLE TOGETHER, CREATING VALUE AND EFFICIENCY.

APPLICATION SERVICES OVERVIEW

Competition in the marketplace requires the rapid development of innovative new applications and the transformation of legacy applications with the best practices of a service-oriented architecture (SOA). More than repositories of data, today's applications are expected to increase collaboration, deliver accountability, and produce efficiencies within an organization.

Making applications more productive, adding new functionality, linking them together, or extending their reach builds competitive advantage and contributes directly to the bottom line of any business.

Logicalis' experienced, certified application specialists can help you with all facets of application services:

Application Development — Our application development specialists can help you leverage data located in disparate, disconnected applications and enable them to interact and collaborate with each other efficiently and effectively.

Business Intelligence — We help you implement data management strategies that integrate applications and technologies, provide access to data, and give you the ability to analyze this data.

Portals — Build stronger links to customers, extend your company to partners, and provide deeper data access to employees with our Portal Services.

Web Services — Our business-centric approach to applications supports integrating your business applications as linked, repeatable business tasks, or as services utilizing SOA and SaaS models.

“We like to partner with Logicalis because they have a broad range of skills we can ramp up and ramp down as we need them. I have a lot of respect and admiration for Logicalis’ capabilities, professionalism, and integrity. They make a great partner.”
