

Telepresence Services enables your organization to cut costs, enhance employee, customer, and partner communication, and enable faster decision making.

Telepresence Services

TelePresence Services from Logicalis creates a live, face-to-face communication experience across your network that empowers you to collaborate quickly and easily, without the hassle and expense of travel. Logicalis TelePresence experts can enable the people in your organization to meet, share content, create high-quality video recordings and events, consult with experts and deliver powerful personalized services, across the country or around the globe, for an immersive in-person experience. Logicalis' TelePresence methodology delivers proven solutions to fit our customers' needs. We can help your organization evaluate, design, install, and support your entire Cisco communication portfolio.

Logicalis TelePresence enables your organization to:

- Schedule a meeting with no IT support required
- Launch a meeting as easily as making a phone call
- Enable meeting participants to collaborate across multiple locations, simultaneously
- Easily bring in collaboration applications like WebEx
- Integrate existing SD or HD videoconferencing systems

Logicalis Deliverables

Like TelePresence itself, the Logicalis experience is easy and painless. Our TelePresence practice provides you with:

- Reliability — Solid performance from industry-leading technology
- Ease-of-Use — Simply push your conference call button, it's that easy
- Low-Cost — No hidden fees with our systems
- Fast Implementation — we will have you up and running, city-to-city in no time
- Total Ownership — Logicalis owns your TelePresence project from site evaluation to final implementation with no messy handoffs
- Comprehensive Certifications — We're a Cisco TelePresence Advanced Technology Provider (ATP) with authorization to sell the entire Cisco TelePresence solution portfolio.

When it comes to Unified Communications and TelePresence, there is no substitute for experience.

Why Logicalis?

Logicalis is a recognized leader in the design, implementation, and support of all forms of Unified Communications, enabling you to get the most from your IP infrastructure, keep communications costs down, and enhance customer service. We couple best-in-class Unified Communications products from Cisco, HP, IBM, Microsoft, and others, with the industry's most experienced consultants to ensure the design and implementation of your solution are flawless. In fact, more than 80 percent of our consultants carry Cisco's highest level CCIE certification.

We Have the Skills

It takes a diverse collection of skills and experience to realize the promise of Unified Communications. Logicalis is one of only a few companies in the world to have achieved the highest level of certification in Cisco Systems Advanced Unified Communications, Rich Media, IP Communications and IP Telephony Services specializations. And we are a Cisco TelePresence Advanced Technology Provider (ATP) with authorization to sell the entire Cisco TelePresence solution portfolio. These specializations recognize Logicalis for having the advanced training, knowledge, personnel, and experience to deploy complex, large-scale Unified Communications solutions.

We Have the Experience

Logicalis' Unified Communications experience is unparalleled. We have held the IP Telephony Services certification longer than any other Cisco partner in the world, and we have consistently held one of the highest customer satisfaction ratings of any partner (as measured by Cisco through independent auditors).
